Health and safety in the workplace

We place a high value on the health and safety of our employees. Accordingly, we design workplaces that reflect this commitment by adhering to relevant statutory regulations and providing safe working conditions, ergonomic environments, and clear safety procedures as part of our workplace health promotion programme.

Through regular training and robust emergency preparedness measures — such as appointing first aid personnel and fire safety assistants, and developing comprehensive emergency plans — we ensure our employees have the knowledge and confidence to respond effectively in critical situations.

We also encourage our employees to take an active role, as sustainable improvements require the commitment of each individual.

Environmental protection and energy efficiency

We continually strive to improve our environmental performance through innovative technologies and the responsible use of natural resources. Our goal is to reduce our environmental impact within the limits of our economic and technological capabilities through efficient processes. Compliance with legal and regulatory requirements forms the foundation of our actions.

Our environmental management system sets clear targets, implements measures to achieve them, and regularly evaluates progress. Its goal is to safeguard ProMinent's long-term corporate stability while actively addressing climate-related risks. Through transparent communication and awareness initiatives, we promote environmentally responsible behaviour, strengthen environmental performance, and make our operations increasingly sustainable and cost-efficient.
